

Squander

Written by Supreme Servant

This is the least well developed part of Squeeze Squander and Spin. In general governments do not seem to require a lot of advise about how to spend the obtained money.

However if you consider spending your money as an investment with the purpose to extort more money from your tax subjects later on, you might want to take a look at some of the squeeze schemes and consider a consultancy session to see what extortion is most effective in your government's development stage. Some things like war are clearly something more suitable for a well developed government, while a government which just started, first needs compulsory education, before it can move up to higher level extortion schemes.

Squeeze Squander and Spin is also capable and willing to brain storm about new megalomaniacal projects that run over budget and think along about how to embed them in national pride to facilitate acceptance by the subjects.
